SIXTY TO GRADUATE AT H. S. THIS YEAR; WILL GIVE PAGEANT

Four Days of Activities Are Planned for High School Graduating Class This June

Sixty members of the high school in the senior class will receive their diplomas at the end of the school year this June. Although this is not as many as graduated last year, it is a good-sized class and will average well in the coming graduation exercises. Plans are being made for the commencement exercises and the period as arranged now will take four days.

On Monday, June twelfth, the faculty will entertain the students to a farewell picnic as they have done in former years. It will probably be held on the river. On account of the regulations of the state, the graduation exercises will be held on Tuesday, June thirteenth, and will be open to the members of the class and their parents and invited friends. The program for the day will consist of the reading of the class history, history, prophecy, and several musical numbers. The students who will take part in the activities on this night have not yet been assigned to the different parts.

The pageant which will be held on Wednesday will be the most elaborate one ever held in the history of the school. The affair will be a Shakespearean masque and Miss Patne, who has charge, sent a part of the cast through their first drills this morning. The characters for the three leading parts have been named and are as follows: Isabel McWay will take the part of Queen Elizabeth; Harry Cushing, Shakespeare, and Evelyn Weller, Hamlet. This grand spectacle will be staged at the Court House park on Wednesday afternoon, June fourteenth. The freshmen girls' gymnasium class will also take part in the pageant.

Last Night. Commencement evening this year will not be held at the high school on account of the crowded conditions in the auditorium. The board of education will probably name the place where it is to be held. This will be the first time in the history of the present high school that a class has received their diplomas in the high gymnasium.

For the class taken the departing class will present the school with a new desk and chair for the class officers. New Mr. McCarthy will make the presentation speech on commencement night. Manilla Powers and Stanley Ryan are composing the class song and practicing on it will begin in the near future. The class and gowns will not be worn this year and the class, at a meeting voted that the girls wear white and the boys dark coats and white trousers.

AUTO OWNERS FIND NEW PARKING PLACES

Main and Milwaukee Street Corner Not Congested With Cars So Much Today as Formerly.

Automobilists accustomed to parking their machines on Main street, just off Milwaukee street, this morning and throughout the day, in the great majority of cases, accepted favorably the friendly warning of the Janesville Commercial club of the possibilities at this corner through the traffic congestion, and today found place elsewhere to park their cars.

A notable absence of machines was to be observed here, particularly on North Main street, at nine o'clock there were five, and at eleven just four. The number increased somewhat just before the noon hour, and about the same number were parked about 1:15 o'clock. It is felt, however, that automobile drivers will gradually realize the importance of parking their cars elsewhere to avert a bad accident.

Members of the Janesville Relief Corps today requested a contradiction of the statement in the Gazette last evening that they were this year in charge of the patriotic entertainment by outside artists of a week or more for the purpose of raising funds for Memorial Day. This was held under the auspices of the Janesville division of the Ladies of the G. A. R.

It was the opinion of several members of the Commercial club, at their meeting yesterday, that the entertainment was a W. R. C. affair, this no doubt being due to the two auxiliaries being affiliated with the G. A. R. affiliation caused the mistaken identity. The Commercial club responded to the request for an appropriation of five dollars to help along the Memorial Day observances and informally expressed the opinion that if the annual money raising entertainments were abandoned they would be willing to appropriate even three or four times the amount asked for yesterday.

TWO CASES CALLED IN MUNICIPAL COURT TODAY

William Cushing was arraigned in the municipal court this morning on a complaint that he converted an automobile valued at $350, owned by Anna Zitske, to his own use as a bull. Through Attorney W. H. Dougherty, representing Cushing, a plea of not guilty was entered to the charge and the case adjourned until Thursday.

The waiving of the preliminary examination will be made when the trial is held in the afternoon. A necessary information paper with the court, which he was unable to do today, being busy with the murder case at Beloit. Bail to the amount of three hundred dollars was demanded by the court. Charles Morgan of Beloit received a fifteen day sentence on the charge of intoxication this morning, when he pleaded guilty. Morgan was taken to the Wright farm, at the end of Milton avenue where he had wandered believing he was going to a farm in the opposite direction.

QUICK WEDDING PERFORMED AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH TODAY

A quiet wedding took place at six o'clock this morning at St. Mary's church in marriage Miss Sarah Cullen of this city and Paul Laskowski, son of Mrs. P. Laskowski also of this city. Mrs. John Cullen was bridesmaid and John Cullen, brother of the bride, acted as best man. After the ceremony the bridal party partook of a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride, 510 North street. Both are well and flourishing and they will make their home in Beloit where the groom is employed.

SECOND WORLD CONGRESS TO BE HELD IN NEW YORK

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) New York, May 2.—The Second World Congress is to be held in New York City today, tomorrow and the next day, looking to the establishment of some arrangement that will not only provide an organization for the adjustment and judicial settlement of any international disputes that may arise, but will insure a lasting peace.

The first World Court Congress was held in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1915. Every state of the union will be represented in New York City at this project, backed by some of the most prominent and influential Americans is of general interest.

The Congress will make no attempt to stop the present war, but will try to prevent future wars.

JAPANESE STEEL BUYER TO TRADE WITH AMERICANS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Tokyo, May 2.—Kojiro Matsukida, president of the Kawasaku Shipbuilding company of Kobe, is going to the United States to open negotiations with American steel companies for a regular supply of steel for Japan.

Representing all the shipbuilding interests of Japan Mr. Matsukida will also visit England to negotiate with the British government for the abolition of the ban on steel shipments and on his way home he will visit Italy to study the building of submarines. It is hoped to construct Japanese submarines entire at home instead of depending on foreign countries.

Chicago, May 2.—The increasing clearness of the atmosphere in London is noted by Prof. F. J. Brodie of the Royal Meteorological Society in a book just published on the "Incidence of Bright Sunshine Over the United Kingdom During the Past Thirty Years."

There has been a great abatement of the smoke evil, he says, owing to the regulations affecting factories, to the improvements in the construction of domestic fire places, and to the largely increased use of gas for cooking and heating purposes. The air in London, he shows, has in recent years become much clearer and the duration of sunshine, more particularly in the winter months, has steadily increased.

At all the stations in the British Isles where regular observations are made there is a steady tendency toward increase in the amount of bright sunshine. The increase in London is far greater than at the two nearest suburban stations, Oxford, in the Thames Valley, and Hastings, on the coast. The number of foggy days registered shows a steady decrease.

Tough Conundrum. If it is really "service" that the man who shuffles around and shamefacedly produces a tip is paying for, why do the pretty waitresses take in the most?

IMPOSSIBLE FOOD FOUND IN MEXICO

American Troopers Could Not Subsist on Native Supplies.

If the American soldiers had been forced to live on "the fat of the land" while on their punitive expedition into Mexico, they would have found it decidedly lean and would have had occasion to complain bitterly of the commissary, for although the neighboring republic has within its borders an extraordinary variety of food products, including most of the vegetables, fruits and cereals grown in both the temperate zone and the tropics, there is neither variety nor abundance in its northern states. A bulletin on culinary practices in the southern republic, issued by the National Geographic society in Washington, says:

"Since the day of the Montezumas, Mexico's staff of life has taken the form of the tortilla, made of Indian corn, which is indigenous to the country. The preparation of the tortilla is the work of the Indian women. They first boil the grain and then, while adding water, grind it to a stiff paste on a stone or flat mortar. This paste is then rolled into a thin disk and is then cooked on a griddle or a piece of flat iron. The result is a thin, round, slightly puffed disk, which is then folded in half and eaten as when the particles of meat are

NEARLY WILD WITH BURNING ITCHING

Eczema. From Hands to Elbows One Mass. Could Not Put Hands in Water. Could Not Sleep.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My daughter was poisoned by salt and it turned into eczema and from her hands to her elbows was one mass of burning, itching eruptions. It began with a rash which was of such a burning itching nature that at times she was nearly wild. For many weeks she could not put her hands in water and she could not sleep. She suffered intensely for several weeks and I tried wringing towels out of hot water and putting a rubber sheet across her, but she wasn't helped. The Doctor said to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I did and the itching and burning left her, and I used four boxes of Cuticura Soap and she was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Ida Brown, 7029 Eggleston Ave., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 22, 1915.

PREPARE CORN LAND AT ONCE IS ADVICE TO CONTEST BOYS

Ground Should Not Be Worked When It Is Wet, However, Prof. West Warns.

By Allen B. West.
To the Acra Corn Contest Boys:
The weather so far has not been very favorable for the fitting of corn ground, unless in especially favorable locations, on account of the frequent showers. As soon as it is possible to work the land, business should begin. Care must be taken, however, not to work the land too wet especially if the soil is heavy, for the ill-effects of such procedure will be seen throughout the season, sometimes even longer. Land should never be plowed or worked when it is too wet to pulverize freely.

It is the practice of many farmers to leave the preparation of the corn ground until just before planting time. This is a mistake. The more the ground is worked before the corn is planted the less it will need after the corn is in, and the experience of recent years shows that it is difficult to cultivate corn without some injury to the plant. Of course this injury is more than compensated for by the advantage of moisture and the killing of the weeds. If the moisture can be conserved and the weeds kept down without the cultivation after planting, the yield will be much increased. It is possible to do a great deal of this work by working the land before planting, and for this reason progressive farmers are getting corn ground ready to plant long before the corn is in. It may be cultivated before planting. "It is a true saying," says Purdue University Bulletin, "that the farmer can do more for his corn before it is in than he can after it is in." This is a true saying, and it is a true saying that the farmer can do more for his corn before it is in than he can after it is in.

As was stated last week, spring plowed ground should not be dragged or harrowed at once to prevent the formation of clods and loss of moisture. If plowed in the fall it should be disced and harrowed as early as possible. If the soil is heavy, for fall plowed land will dry out quicker than improved land, even though it contains more moisture. After this it should be treated the same as spring plowed land, i. e., disced and harrowed once a week until planting time. C. P. Hartley, author of U. S. Farmers' Bulletin 537, gives this additional advice: "Where a heavy growth of clover or weeds or a heavy application of manure was plowed under in the fall, the land should be given just previous to planting a cultivation as deep as it will plow. This deep cultivation mixes the humus throughout the soil and is of more value than any other cultivation the corn crop can be given." Another item in favor of cultivating before planting.

Second, it permits the destruction of weeds. The early working warming the soil as it cools, the early cultivation of the seeds, the resulting plants being destroyed by the subsequent harrowing, before the corn is planted. Third, it conserves moisture. Fourth, it keeps the soil in such condition as to make the plant food stored in the soil more readily available to the corn plant. If the ground has been thoroughly prepared and the corn is planted much less cultivation will be required to keep the weeds down after planting, and about all that will be necessary will be to keep the ground from baking after rains. So boys, go to work as soon as it dries up to cultivate your corn.

RUSSIA'S PROHIBITION LAWS WILL BE ENFORCED AFTER THE WAR ENDS

(Special to the Gazette.)
Petrograd, May 2.—Russia will continue "dry" after the war, so far as vodka is concerned. The limited sale of beer and light wines will be permitted.

The bill for both prohibition and limitations on beer and light wines was introduced in the Duma and its passage is assured. The czar and his advisers approve it.

Finland is not included. "It is forbidden to produce alcohol for vodka," says the bill, "or to import alcohol."

Alcohol production for mechanical and medicinal purposes is authorized only by the government. Its sale except by the government, is prohibited. The law is not intended to protect individuals, even though their product be only for their own household consumption.

The sale of beer and light wines will be prohibited except in towns. Local councils may prohibit it altogether.

The government also will limit the percentage of alcohol in both beers and wines.

SELECTION OF BISHOPS AT METHODIST MEETING

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., May 2.—Just where the bishop "will be" as elected for the next four years is a subject of keen interest at the quadrennial session of the Methodist general conference here today.

Interest centres about the election of Bishop Wilson, successor to Bishop Cranston. Washington and New York are the most desired locations.

It is believed the Washington "plan" will be chosen. Bishop Luther B. Wilson of New York, or Bishop William Fraser McDowell of Chicago.

Bishop Wilson, however, may be returned to New York, where he has accomplished so much for Methodism in Washington. Dr. McDowell is vice-chancellor of the Methodist University at the capital, and he is a close friend of Bishop Cranston.

If Bishop Wilson is not returned to New York, the next incumbent likely will be Bishop McDowell or Bishop Frank J. McConnell, now resident in Denver. Dr. McConnell was consecrated only four years ago. Until then he was pastor of New York avenue Church, Brooklyn.

MEERSCHAUM MATERIAL IS NOW A RARITY

If the shade of the smoker's pipe were of as much moment as the hue of midday's spring costume the possible shortage in the meerschaum market might have attracted as much attention in America, since the beginning of the war, as has the interruption of our aniline dye trade with Germany, for the main source of the world's supply of this earthly mineral is in the hands of the National Geographic society, with headquarters in Washington, in its war geography bulletin issued today, gives the following little known facts about the meerschaum mines of Eskisehir, the moslem city of 20,000 people which lies 200 miles to the south of Constantinople, on the banks of the Pursak Su, in Asia Minor.

Meerschaum, which derives its name from the fact that particles of it were discovered floating on the Black Sea, giving rise to the belief that it was carried there from the aluvial deposits in the plains near Eskisehir for a thousand years. Some of the meerschaum beads, located about 2,000 openings. Here 4,000 Kurds and Persians, in groups of from three to fifteen, burrow through yard-wide holes to depths of from 20 to 300 feet, working night and day under the flickering light of oil lamps. The lumps of mineral clay which they seek is commercially valuable in no degree as small as a hazel nut, while the really pieces as large as apples are found.

"When the meerschaum is first brought to the surface it has a grayish or yellowish tinge and is so soft that it can be worked with a knife. In the summer it is left to dry in the sun, but in the winter it is placed in ovens where it is subjected to a steady temperature day and night to make it harder. The finished pipe is then rubbed with flannel and polished with wax it is wrapped in cotton and sent to America. It is so soft that it can be cut like cheese, after which it is sawed into convenient pipe shape, elaborately carved if desired, and fitted with amber stems from Germany. Before the war the value of Eskisehir's meerschaum exports was more than $1,000,000 annually.

Even the most aesthetically inclined of our millionaires would hardly consider the luxury of living in a palace built of meerschaum as within the range of their fortunes, yet there are many unpretentious houses of this material in the Spanish town of Valdecaas, near Madrid, where a coarse variety of this substance is to be found. On the other hand, the Moroccans, just across the straits of Gibraltar, find still another variety of meerschaum lathers freely and they use it, perhaps sparingly, as a substitute for soap.

As a sawdust of the meerschaum pipe factories make an excellent cleansing powder for removing stains from costly fabrics. An inferior pipe is also made from the scraps, the fragments being bound together with some solution and then molded into blocks.

Meerschaum is found in Greece and in Hruschitz, Moravia, as well as in the Harz mountains of Germany, in Pennsylvania, South Carolina and in the upper Gila valley, near Silver City, New Mexico.

"SAFETY FIRST" EXHIBIT STARTED BY GOVERNMENT

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, May 2.—Climbing aboard a special 12-car steel train Uncle Sam started out from the city today to show his people how he provides "safety first" for them in their food, drink, homes, work and play.

F. Leopold of the Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior, was in charge of the train, which starts out over the lines of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railroad on the first lap of its tour with the B. & O. then lead westward over other trunk lines.

Exhibits from almost every bureau in the government service were aboard. Models and charts from the public health service showed how disease is prevented, how food and working conditions are regulated to safeguard life and health.

Devices with which the coast guard service saves life and property along the seaboard and on the great lakes, from another exhibit. Included are model life boats, rapid-firing guns for throwing life lines to ships in distress, the breeches buoy and wireless outfit.

Complete exhibits of the bureau of mines of its apparatus for saving lives in the mines are also aboard.

How the forest service of the department of agriculture has minimized the life losses in hitherto great calamities in the vast timberlands is demonstrated. This exhibit also shows how 1,200 towns and cities are kept from being smothered by the forests, and what is being done to safeguard and prevent contamination of these water sources.

First-aid-to-the-injured shows and their application are shown under the auspices of the American Red Cross, while the interstate commerce commission has three model cars fully equipped with all known and approved railway safety devices.

Millions of dollars worth of property have been saved by warnings sent out by the weather bureau, it is claimed, and the work of this branch of the department of agriculture, with its apparatus for determining weather conditions, is elaborately shown.

The reclamation service, war and navy departments also are represented.

CALIFORNIA PAROLE LAW IS SUCCESSFUL

Results As Summarized by State Parole Agent Are Most Conclusive As to Good Accomplished.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Chicago, May 2.—Results of the operation of the California state parole law are embodied in data gathered by Edward H. Whyte, of San Francisco, California, State Parole Agent, and given out for publication today. He says that if the authorities permitted publication of the names of the many paroled men who have resumed their places among the reputable citizens of California the people of the state would be amazed at the fine showing and proud of the result. Among the findings of the investigation made by Mr. Whyte are the following:

A total of 3,635 prisoners in California paroled prior to January 1st of this year (1916), only 128, or 3.5%, violated their paroles by the commission of new crimes. Their violations brought the percentage of violations up to 3.5% consisted of breaking of some rule of the Prison Board, such as, drinking intoxicating liquors, leave place of employment without permission, and the like.

Aside from the personal good accomplished in returning several thousand prospective criminals to law-abiding and industrially productive citizenship, probably the most important result of the California parole law has been the reduction of confirmed criminals in state prisons. Statistics covering the three decades from 1880 to 1910 show the following results:

In 1880 the percentage of confirmed criminals in California state prisons was 22.3 and the percentage of first termers was 77.8.

In 1890, the percentage of confirmed criminals had grown to 26.7, while the percentage of first termers was reduced to 74.3.

In 1910, the percentage of confirmed criminals fell 38.1, while the percentage of first termers reached 61.9.

The gradual decrease of confirmed criminals percentage still is going on at California prisons.

So far as prison management enters into this remarkable result, Mr. Whyte says there are just two causes—improved prison management and paroles.

The total earnings of prisoners while on parole up to January 1, 1916, amount to $2,015,871.02, and the savings in this period amount to $464,561, and this is held by Mr. Whyte to prove that the parole system is a success as it makes it possible to transform men who have been convicted of crimes from a cost of $200.00 a year each to industrious men, each earning for himself, on an average of $600.00 a year and to reimburse him with his family.

In conclusion Mr. Whyte says: "Too many are inclined to believe a sentence to a state penitentiary changes the nature of a sentenced man, and that the man loses all attributes of humanity. That is a mistake. After he is a thing apart, a beast to be dreaded. Therefore, the fair treatment due a man is generally withheld from a prisoner. Experience has shown that this is a grievous error that that this attitude has worked great harm."

"Human nature is not fundamentally changed by the bestial of the greatest honors nor is a man radically changed by imprisonment. When the debt to society has been paid by imprisonment, would not be fair and reasonable for us who have been more fortunate to recognize the settlement and then do our best to help the unfortunate to again take his place among men?"

"A convict, as such, is of no value to himself or the state. If he remains in prison too long—long enough to break his spirit and ambition—he is sure to remain a charge and menace to the state for all his life. If his hope of parole and reformation is kept up, it is a powerful incentive to good conduct and endeavor. The very many instances in which paroled prisoners have made good in every sense of the word is conclusive proof of the great value and success of the parole system."

According to the War Profits Tax bill that has now reached the Dutch Parliament, 30 per cent of all such profits beyond the first $500 will have to be turned over to the state.

This means that every Dutchman or Dutch company making war profits of say $2,000 will pay 30 per cent on $1,500 of this, or $450, into the public treasury and so on. The tax is to be levied as from August 1, 1914, the increase in income being reckoned by a comparison with the twelve months preceding that date. Imprisonment penalties are provided for incorrect declarations of income and falsified balance sheets and books.

SIGNIFICANT FACTS.

Some interesting facts in connection with the development of the present tariff law are being developed by an analysis of the records. In view of the war, the fairest basis of comparison, for the purpose of showing the effects of the tariff law on our trade, is the ten months' period from October, 1913, when that law became effective, until July 31, 1914, when the European war was declared, compared with October, 1912, to July, 1913, under the Payne-Adlrich act.

The figures from October, 1914, to July, 1915, a full year period, also show an interesting contrast. For the ten months ended July, 1913, our total foreign trade was $3,614,233,842, of which $2,110,466,639 was exports and $1,503,767,203 was imports, yielding a favorable trade balance of $606,699,436. For the ten months ended July, 1914, under the present tariff law, our total foreign trade was $3,558,383,074, of which $1,954,578,295 was exports and $1,603,804,779 was imports, yielding a favorable balance of $349,773,516. This shows a loss of 7.6 per cent in exports, or sales abroad, a gain of about 7 per cent in imports, or products competing with American goods, and a loss of 43 per cent in our favorable trade balance. For the ten months ended July, 1915 (full year period), our total foreign trade was $3,607,677,321, of which $2,177,698,636 was exports and $1,429,978,685 was imports, or a favorable balance of trade due to the war of $1,229,439,951, which is the high record in the history of our foreign commerce.

The present law became effective October 4, 1913, and thus was in operation only nine months of the fiscal year 1914. During the period July 1 to October 3, 1913, $2,185,882 of customs revenue were under the Payne law. In addition to this, about twenty million dollars was realized from the Payne rates on wool, woolen goods and sugar, which were carried over for a few months under the Underwood law. It is figured out that this would leave one hundred and eighty million dollars to be credited to the Underwood law during the first nine months of its operation, of a monthly average of twenty million dollars compared with a monthly average under the Payne law for 1913 of $26,500,000 monthly, or about seventy-eight million dollars a year.

The total receipts from customs during the year 1915 were about ten million dollars less than the estimate of the treasury, but the receipts from corporation and individual income taxes were augmented because of corporation and individual war profits. The war revenue measure produced fifty-two million dollars and the income tax eighty million dollars, which reduced the total excess of disbursements over receipts to $77,500,000. During the calendar year 1912, on $1,818,000,000 of imports there was $326,340,000 of customs revenue, or an average rate of duty on imports of 18 per cent. During the calendar year 1912, nine months under the Payne law, and three months under the Underwood law, $1,792,309,000 of imports, were realized customs revenue in the sum of $310,800,000, or an average rate of duty of 17.4 per cent. For 1914, five months of war, our imports totaled $1,759,250,000, the duty collected $241,250,000, the average rate of duty 13.7 per cent. For the year 1915, a full year period, our imports amounted to $1,778,600,000, the duty collected was $198,606,000, the average duty rate 11.1 per cent.

These figures indicate that while imports fell off slightly over 2 per cent, comparing 1915 with 1912, duties fell off 29 per cent and, compared with 1913, imports fell off about 8 per cent, while duties fell off 36 per cent. During the month of January, last, we imported goods to the value of $154,000,000, the duty collected thereon was $15,544,000, or an average duty rate for the month as low as 8.4 per cent. January, 1916, sets the high water mark thus far in our import trade, and the low water mark for the average rate of duty. Seventy-four per cent of imports for that month came in free.

A NEW PROBLEM.

There is a new problem confronting the citizens of Janesville with the establishment of the Gossard factory in our midst. This factory will employ a considerable number of young women. Many will come from outside the city. They will need a place to sleep, a place to eat and a place to enjoy recreation. Janesville has nothing along this line in the way of an organization to look after their interests. As has been repeatedly pointed out, a Young Women's Christian association or some association of similar nature, is one of the crying needs of the city. Now that the ladies have organized into a city federation and have their civic league, why not take the matter up seriously. In Madison, such an establishment has been in operation for many years and has proven a success. Now they have a crusade for a hundred thousand dollar building, and one generous Madison lady has given the sum of ten thousand dollars for it. Of course Janesville need not be so ambitious as that all at once, but ten thousand dollars would establish just what is needed here, and there certainly should be enough liberal spirited men and women in the city who could afford to aid in such a cause by liberal contributions if properly approached. It is worth thinking over for the new factory emphasizes its need more than ever.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

Leslie's Weekly gives some interesting data under the above caption, when it says that one out of every four patients in the New York insane asylums is an alien.

Of 221 men in the breadline in New York recently only five would accept work at $1.75 a day. A government school teacher in Alaska, charged with a trifling offense, was recently sent to jail for seven months. The total cost of the trial was $75,000. Fees and traveling expenses of the court were $15,000!

The senate committee on transportation routes to the seaboard has not met for thirty-seven years, yet it has rooms, three clerks and printing and other privileges. Economy at Washington!

In 1887, a Mexican soldier pursued a Mexican girl across the border into the United States and dragged her back across the line. President Cleveland sent our army to the border with instructions to go to the City of Mexico, if necessary, and seize the man who had violated American territory. Mexico gave up the offending soldier. He was sent to the penitentiary for twenty years. The people shall rule.

THE SECOND DAY.

Are you ready for those wagons to haul away your refuse yet? If not, why not? Eventually you will have to have it done. Why not now? Ask yourself these questions if you have not made arrangements to take part in the annual clean-up crusade. Answer them yourself by getting up and taking advantage of the early morning hours to do your share toward making Janesville the City Beautiful. The Spottless Town. It is up to each individual to do his share and the result will be stupendous. It is worth trying at any rate.

Street improvements are a valuable asset to any community. The better the streets the better the prosperity of the community is advertised. It is false economy to lay cheap streets with material that will wear out in a few years.

It is certainly great to be a neutral and preach American doctrines. You do not please the pro-Allies or the pro-Germans and both accuse you of being a trimmer just because you say America for Americans and insist upon it.

Spring is here and garden time has come—according to the calendar. If old Dame Nature does not know it, she should be duly warned and her daughter, Miss Spring, welcomed with open arms.

Obedient Obit.
Tell us not in mournful numbers,
Oh, ye wondrous weather men,
That old Winter merely slumbers,
And will waken up again.
"Delighted to have met you, Mr. Beeman. Come again when you're out of town," meant—mean—no course, certainly, goodby," said Mr. Goodrich Mudd, cordially, as he bowed Beeman Gravy out of his office. Then, in an Effie lowering rage, he raged for Obie, the boy.
"Obie, you impervious, ivory-domed, inconsequential imp, how often must I tell you not to show strangers into my room?"
But they never believe me when I say you're out. They say they simply must see you."
"Tell 'em that's what they all say!" said Goodrich Mudd.
That afternoon Mrs. Goodrich Mudd broke her custom of fifteen years standing and went down town to see her husband in his office.
"No ma'am, he's out, he is," said Obie.
"But I am his wife."
"That's what they all say," said Obie, cutely.
And Goodrich Mudd, hearing the dialogue from the room, rushed out and fired Obie, so hard that when he got home his mother had to use the fire extinguisher on him.

Colone Mudge says there ain't nothin' like havin' a talented daughter in the family, as she probably won't have to hit the box of free smokin' tobacco down to Hilliker's store for two or three weeks.
Miss Mudge's prize winning poem was as follows, to wit:

Come all ye smokers, far and near;
Oh, come and see what you kin hear.
When other smokin' men you pain,
Just try "Pride of the Gravel Train."
Old Andy Butts is dead, you know;
He smoked it ninety years or so.

CANADIAN SPORTSMEN WILL SELL FAMED HUNTING STABLE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
New York, May 2.—Because the war has made it impossible for him and Lady Beck to keep up their annual hunts that have made them world famous in sportsman society, Sir Adam Beck of London, Ontario, is selling all his prize winning hunters at auction here.

The sale will include eleven hunters, several of whom were winners at the last international horse show in England. In the list are Hampton, Zandra, Sir Edward, Hydro, Monarch, Sheila, Loversborough, Harkaway, Sheila, Sovereign and Milton, all well known performers in the field as well as in the show ring.
Lady Beck, the wife of Sir Adam Beck, will be remembered as one of the judges of saddle horses at the last National horse show in New York. The Becks have been accustomed to hunting in England each winter, but the war has interfered with their arrangements. Not since the sale of the hunting stable of Sir Clifford Sifton at Ottawa, Ontario, about a year ago, have so many prize hunting horses been offered at public auction.

TWO IN JAIL FOR MURDER OF WALVIG

was no indication that anything like a mob violence would be resorted to.

Working on Clues.

It is stated that the detectives working upon the case claim they have some important clues as to the place the murder was actually committed at the culvert that Fowler describes although it appears strange that the Tuesday following the crime Fowler and Reynolds were able to take the corpse to the Gunderson woods in the automobile without detection, and bury it. The automobile has been carefully searched but no traces of blood are said to have been found although it might have been possible to clean them up before Fowler was arrested.

Earl Reynolds, age 22 years, was arrested at South Beloit on implicating statements made by Fowler in his confession, in which Fowler charged that Reynolds fired the revolver shot that killed Walvig. Reynolds was taken to Beloit last night, but Sheriff Chamberlain had taken Fowler to Janesville and put him under guard all night to forestall any attempt at suicide. While Fowler's signed confession alleged that Reynolds shot and killed the Beloit man, evidence obtained in the investigation last night tends to convince the detectives and Sheriff Chamberlain that Fowler alone slayed Walvig.

Missing April Eighth.

Walvig has been missing from Beloit since Saturday afternoon. The search of last night of the week after he disappeared Fowler was arrested on a murder charge, the complaint being signed by a brother of the slain man. Fowler was brought to the jail and lodged in a cell. For several weeks he was left alone. Developments started coming in, and the first intimation that his story as told the authorities was false was when his fiancée, Mrs. C. W. With, made a statement to the district attorney and others that she misinformed them regarding Walvig's disappearance on Saturday. It was her home on Saturday evening and that Walvig was with him. At the corner of Fourth and Grand avenue, the girl and Fowler said they let him out of the auto, which had been driven by Fowler from Walvig for $350 that day.

Under repeated examinations by the district attorney and detectives the girl said that the night after she was one in the automobile when Fowler came for her in the evening. This started the detectives to weave a web around Fowler. They learned that he borrowed a spade from the Gundersons, the town of Newburg on the eleventh of April, Tuesday, on the pretense that he desired to dig up a brush and some flowers.

With these two important clues to work on, an attempt was made to find the body of Walvig. Systematic searches were futile. A detective was placed in the jail with Fowler at first. He was supposed to have been a prisoner. He stayed there night and day, talking, asking him questions, but always under the pretense he was a fellow prisoner. This detective learned some facts either from Fowler's conversations or remarks made while the murder suspect was asleep.

Yesterday afternoon Sheriff Chamberlain, Detective J. W. Diamond and O. D. Wheeler, from Beloit, "sweated" Fowler at the county jail. They got him excited, as the crime had preyed on his mind for some time. As soon as the authorities told Fowler they knew he had buried the body of Walvig, the prisoner made statements that were contradictory to his first story. When the authorities caught him in these statements they had him. After several hours of questioning, Fowler "came through" with his confession. After this he expressed willingness to go with the sheriff and show him where the body was buried.

Fowler was handcuffed to a detective and the trip made to the Gunderson farm. Fowler took a spade from the long-handled shovel in a woodlot, about six rods from the road, near the Goldsmith school house. The searchers had walked near this spot half a dozen times, but there was not a sign that there had been made a grave, and the alleged murderers. There was no fresh dirt visible as leaves covered the spot, and a small limb had been placed across the top.

Exhumed Walvig's Body.

The three men exhumed the same spade that was used to bury Walvig and dug up the body while Fowler stood at the edge of the hole watching them. Until the body was found, the searchers had been told that the body was buried in the woods. Fowler never showed signs of distress, but at the point when the face was exposed he nearly collapsed.

Walvig's corpse was remarkably preserved considering that it had been buried twenty days and that he had been dead for twenty-three days. The murderers had stretched the body out on the full length of the shovel without a blanket or covering of any kind.

His watch had stopped at a few minutes after eleven o'clock, having run down. Nothing appeared to have been taken from the person in his bank book and personal papers were in his pocket. His rubbers had been placed over the body.

When the body had been exhumed, shortly after seven o'clock Monday evening, the sheriff took Fowler to Beloit and notified the undertaker from Beloit to obtain the corpse.

Walvig was killed by a shot from a thirty-eight caliber revolver, the bullet going into the skull an inch from the right eye, penetrating through the brain to within a fraction of an inch from the other side. Two physicians, Drs. W. Crockett and J. W. Ketchum, made an examination at the morgue and reported that with the exception of the bullet wound there was no other evidence of violence on the body.

The confession made by Fowler is being investigated today, and it is thought that the entire blame for the murder may be laid against him on the evidence obtained. His story, in short, is as follows:

ler states that Reynolds made them get out of the car, and while Walvig was standing in the road fired a shot which killed him.

The prisoner told the detectives that Reynolds then ordered him to "beat it and shut up his mouth" under the threat of death. This Fowler says he did, and at Beloit met Miss Irish, a recently hired girl, who told him when she was questioned by the district attorney, since she knew that Walvig was not with them when they drove down town. Fowler never said a word to anyone, she or her mother, concerning the alleged holdup and murder.

Divide Spoils; Bury Victim.

Fowler declares he met Reynolds a day or two later and that they made the agreement that he, Fowler, was to have the car and that Reynolds was to keep the $350, which was taken from Walvig. On Tuesday afternoon, three days after the shooting, the two men, according to Fowler, went to the culvert, where the murder took place. Fowler claims Reynolds hid the body, wrapped in a blanket, underneath a log. He said he saw the body and went to the Gunderson farm, where a spade was obtained. Reynolds is supposed to have dragged the body across the field into the woods, and dug the grave during the time when it would be light. Fowler then claims they covered the grave and Reynolds threatened him with the same fate if he refused to help.

Reynolds was arrested late in the afternoon Monday at a South Beloit factory, where he is employed. He was left in Beloit last night to be arraigned today and deny their guilt, and facts referred to by the authorities tend to substantiate his claim.

First, a farmer named Brown, living near the Gunderson farm, saw Reynolds back from this place Tuesday afternoon, the day the body was supposed to have been buried. Brown claims Fowler was driving in the auto and was accompanied only by his sister.

Second, Fowler borrowed $250 from his sister, Mrs. Andrew Gunderson, to buy the machine. The apparent motive for the murder was to obtain the automobile and the money so as to pay the debt.

Third, it is said Reynolds can prove an alibi on both dates which Fowler names.

Draw Net Around Fowler.

The authorities believe that Fowler murdered Walvig with the revolver as Walvig was driving the automobile. The body was found in the culvert. The wound is on the right side, indicating that the fatal shot could have been fired in the auto with the body in the culvert. The body was found in the culvert in which Fowler alleged Reynolds wrapped the body in placing it under the culvert. There is no evidence that Reynolds had a spade, and if there was one used it would have probably been wrapped around the corpse in the grave. Fowler is known to have bought a thirty-eight caliber revolver in Beloit a few days before the disappearance of Walvig. Furthermore, Reynolds had no means apparently of knowing that the money transaction was made by Fowler.

Fowler and Walvig, to make his motive for murder and robbery. Detective James Diamond of Beloit, Sheriff A. O. Chamberlain, C. Wheeler, a Beloit attorney, and a private sleuths have followed the case to minute details during the past three weeks. Walvig was a Knights Templar at Beloit and the order caused an extensive search to be made. Fowler confessed yesterday at the jail with the result that the body was found in the culvert. The body was found in the culvert, and the authorities accomplished an end toward which they had worked assiduously since the murder. Reynolds was a woman in the case. The detective followed these reports down and their final result was that Walvig's reputation was of a high character.

Orphaned Girl Dreams of Murder.

A strange incident is connected with the murder. The five year old daughter of Walvig, a very pretty little girl, now left an orphan, as her mother died, dreamed that her father was murdered and that he was buried on Saturday night, the very day of the murder. The authorities took much stock in this "chance" and therefore did not pay much attention to the deduction that Walvig had been thrown into the river. The facts proved that they were right.

District Attorney Dunwiddie left this morning for Beloit to appear when Reynolds is arraigned on a warrant to be sworn out this morning. If Fowler's confession is true, he is admittedly an accomplice in a murder case. Preliminary examinations in Beloit, the case against either man will be transferred to the circuit court here.

Archibald Fowler came to Beloit from Beloit. He is said to be mentally sub-normal, although he never before displayed any criminal tendencies so far as is known. Reynolds, the other man in the case, was arrested some time ago at Beloit for firing in false fire alarms, but not much is known about him. Last night at the Beloit jail he was on the verge of a collapse, due to the sudden accusations he faced. Fowler is now in custody at the county jail, where he has been for twenty-four years of age.

Was to Be Married.

It was learned this morning that Fowler was to have been married June twenty-fourth to Miss Evelyn Fisher. Fowler will be twenty-one years of age this month, according to his statement today, this being younger than the authorities believe he was. He is a Norwegian in nationality.

METHODIST CHURCH FOR ORGANIC UNION OF TWO BRANCHES

Board of Bishops Recommends Amalgamation Between North and South Today.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., May 2.—The recommendation of the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church for an organic union with Methodist Episcopal church south, aroused great enthusiasm today among delegates to the general conference. This recommendation was contained in the Episcopal address, the formal utterance of the board of bishops to the conference, which was read by Bishop John W. Hamilton of Boston.

Each declaration in favor of such union was met with prolonged applause and the recommendation that an investigating committee report to present conference on best methods to bring about the amalgamation caused a demonstration which lasted several minutes. Bishop Joseph F. Berry, Philadelphia, who presided at today's session, said when able to make himself heard:

"This hearty and unusual demonstration of the heart of this body concerning organic union is most significant. It would seem most appropriate that at this moment we bow our heads and silently ask God's blessing on this movement and his guidance as to methods to bring it about."

The conference today elected a second ballot for secretary to succeed Rev. Joseph D. Hingeley of Chicago, but Rev. Dr. Edwin Locke of Kansas, the leading candidate, received three votes less than the necessary majority. Dr. Locke, 386; Dr. E. S. Johnson, northwestern Iowa, 200; Dr. E. M. Mills, central New York, 150; Rev. E. M. Snyder, 35.

SPELLING CONTEST IN RURAL SCHOOLS

Spelling contest. Township Competition Scheduled for Thursday—Other News Notes

The annual spelling, arithmetic and writing contests of Rock county township schools will be held Thursday afternoon for rural school pupils. The two students averaging the highest will be eligible to enter the county spelling of the entire county at the time of the rural school graduation exercises here some time in June and the winner of this contest will represent the township in the state meet at the time of the state fair at Milwaukee.

Members of the faculty of the teachers' training school, County Superintendent of Schools O. D. Antidill and his clerk, Miss Fern Cook, and supervising teacher, Miss Sadie Clapp, together with disinterested persons of the townships, will have charge of the examinations. The examinations will be conducted for four townships, Harmony, La Prairie, Rock and Janesville at the court house. Prof. Frank J. Leach will go to Madison to enter the county spelling, and Miss Florida Luce to Lima Center. Miss Fern Cook of the county school office is to be in the town of Porter and Miss Clapp in the town of Milton.

Lists of words and problems, in sealed envelopes not to be opened until the contest is ready to commence, have been prepared and are now in the hands of those who will be in charge. Teachers desiring township library book lists can secure the same by calling at the office of the county superintendent.

Town and district geographical, historical and agricultural maps and compositions are being received at the office here in accordance with instructions regarding this work for the advance pupils of the schools.

Lists of premiums and entry lists for the Big Janesville Fair, which included blanks for every exhibit with the exception of live stock, have been sent to rural teachers by Superintendent Antidill. Teachers are requested to enlist interest in the fair and to get ready the exhibits from their schools.

COMMITTEE FAVORS BENEFIT MEASURE

Compensation Bill Providing Disability Insurance for Federal Employees Gets Recommendation.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, May 2.—The Kern-McGillicuddy compensation bill, providing injury and total disability benefit for government employees and benefit to employees' families on a salary percentage basis, was approved today by the house judiciary committee. It follows New York and Massachusetts state laws and the maximum monthly payment under the measure, regardless of salary, would be $60.67.

Correction: In mentioning the names of the medal winners in the contest held at the high school last Saturday evening, the name of John Koch was omitted. Koch is a senior at the school and was awarded the Mahoney medal for the prize piece of poetry.

COUNTY PURCHASES OIL FOR HIGHWAYS

Green and Lafayette Counties and Rock Merge to Secure Lowest Terms on Road Dressing.

Contract for 60,000 gallons of liquid asphalt for Rock county highways was made for yesterday by Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore and Fred Rehfeld and E. L. Bingham of the county highway commission. Rock county entered with Green and Lafayette counties to purchase the oil in quantity. Green county contracted for 60,000 gallons and Lafayette county for 20,000 gallons. The oil delivered here will cost the county 8 cents per gallon; at Monroe, 8.01 and at Darlington, 8.02 cents. Representatives of four highway oil refineries bid on the contract. A particular kind of oil which Mr. Bingham was waiting for the past three years and which he deems to be the best procurable on the market was the kind purchased. This requires no heating, absorbs and penetrates quickly and is particularly adapted for country roads, where it is impossible to fence off a section of the highway as in the city, to permit the covered surface to thoroughly dry.

THE GIRL AND THE GAME . . .

Copyright 1915 by Frank H. Spearman.

"Friends crowded up as the spike went home and congratulations fell thick and fast on the winners of the long-drawn struggle. Rhineland still had something to propose. "While we are all here together," he said, "we'll complete the celebration by starting the first train. I want to see whether Miss Holmes and Mr. Storm can drive a spike that will hold a rail joint for an engine to run over it. If it fails, it shows them both up. Throw the switch for the main line, George, and let Helen start the first train over the cut-off."

Storm walked toward the switch, some distance away, followed by Spike. Standing together they threw it and signaled that all was right. Helen, quite at home inside an engine cab, pulled the throttle slightly and the drivers began to revolve; the engineer then handed her carefully down from the gangway and the train started.

At the switch, Spike and Storm engaged thus intently, failed to notice two men creeping up behind them, ropes in hand. Taken unawares, the two were thrown suddenly over their heads and before they could make the least defense, they were throttled, felled and dragged back from the switch. So swiftly and expertly was the attack made that Spike and Storm were choked almost at once and dragged down out of sight before anyone noticed their disappearance.

Tying their hands expeditiously, Ward speculated for a moment on what to do with them. Adams' proposal to throw them from the bridge he negated. "They would find them too quick. We'll put them into the ore cars," he said cunningly. "When the cars are located at the mine the ore will do the rest."

The two picked Storm up, unconscious, and carried him along the track, laying him beside it to await the coming of the freight train. Returning to bring Spike in like fashion, they were surprised and upset to find he had disappeared.

Spike had, in fact—overhearing the fate in store for him—rolled, gagged and bound as he was, along the track to the bridge below. Gaining this, he continued to roll over and tried to drop out of sight underneath. But in getting down, helpless as he was, his hands caught by the rope with which he was fastened on the head of a projecting spike and instead of dropping to where he speedily could have hidden himself, he hung quite helpless in the air suspended by his wrists.

The ore train, meantime, had come along the mine spur and Ward and Adams, watching their opportunity, flung Storm into a gondola.

"We've got to get after Spike," declared Ward, now alarmed for the safety of himself and his companion.

Indeed, Spike was having a close call for his life in more than one direction. A single slender chance gave him hope of escape. The cord with which his hands had been bound, he thought, might be saved in two on the spike against which it had caught. Acting on this thought, he threw himself from side to side to saw the cord against the iron. In spite of the intense pain suffered in sustaining the entire weight of his body on the things that bound his wrists, he kept desperately busy in the hope of releasing himself before his captors should return. For he had no doubt that Ward, as assistant director, would not hesitate to kill him on sight. With a resource and cunning developed through a long career of doubtful enterprises and close squeaks—Spike struggled wildly for freedom and life, and thus engaged he heard the footsteps of men running along the track.

This might mean help; it might mean a knock on the head. There was but a moment left to effect his escape. Jerking himself convulsively, arms, legs and body—the cord cutting and sawing every moment into the quick around his wrists—he threw such a force on the rope that the strands finally parted on the sharp iron face and Spike dropped exhausted to the ground. But he had hardly struck it before he rolled, bounced and scrambled away into hiding.

It was none too soon. Ward and Adams, searching with sharp eyes every place of concealment, came on. Their hurry, however, was too great, and the very place where they should have looked, they passed. Even before they were well out of the way, Spike had released his feet and galloping the track was running at full speed back to where Helen was waiting beside the Special with her friends.

These latter saw a bareheaded man dashing down the track, waving his arms.

"They've got Storm," exclaimed Spike. "They carried him off first, to throw him into an ore car. If they meant to throw us both in, if they've thrown George into one of those cars, the minute it's loaded, he'll be killed!"

Helen blanched. To threaten Storm's life was to touch her heart. "We must get aboard," she cried to those about her, "and run the train up to the mine without losing a minute. Hurry," she cried, "everybody!"

Rhineland hastened the excited guests into the cars, signaled the conductor and the Special, swiftly gathering speed, started to catch the freight train at the mine.

In the gondola into which he had been flung, Storm, pounded and shaken over the rough rail joints, gradually recovered consciousness.

NEWS NOTES FROM THE JOURNAL

BY DAISY DEAN

The career of Bruce McRae, a recent convert to the motion picture, reads like a story from a fairy book. He was born in England, but went to Australia at the age of sixteen and there became a surveyor in the government service. He later came to America and while stationed at Fort Laramie had charge of one of the largest ranches in the world. Perhaps the fact that he is a nephew of that sterling English actor, Sir Charles Wyndham, and of the famous dramatist, the late Bronson Howard, had something to do with his breaking into the theatrical game, for after a year in the wild and woolly he came to New York, where, through introductions from his noted uncle, he was able to secure a part in Jesse L. Lasky's and Forbes Robertson's company, which was then playing "Thermidor."

His success was immediate, and since then he has seldom been out of the public view, as the long list of plays in which he has appeared will attest.

"SHOT" OIL WELL FOR "THE TOLLERS." The actual shooting of a real oil well will be one of the big scenes in "The Tollers," the new multiple reel feature photoplay by Dr. Daniel Goodman, which Nance O'Neill is starred.

The theme of "The Tollers" is described as love, oil and money. Edgar Lewis, who is directing the making of the photoplay, is an expert in the matter of realism, and to put the aroma of petroleum into the picture, he took Miss O'Neill and her supporting principals to the Galloway oil fields near Franklin, Pa., where oil-seen busy days were employed in unfeeling the story of the camera amid shafts, derricks and tanks.

RED-TAILED HAWK (Buteo borealis)

Length, about two feet. One of our largest hawks; adults with tail red-dish brown.

Range: Breeds in the United States, Mexico, Costa Rica, Canada and Alaska; winters generally in the United States and south to Guatemala.

Habits and economic status: The red-tailed hawk, or "hen-hawk," as it is commonly called, is one of the best known of all our birds of prey, and is a widely distributed species of great economic importance. Its habit of sitting on some prominent limb or pole in the open, or flying with measured wing beat over prairies and sparsely wooded areas on the lookout for its favorite prey, causes it to be noticed by the most indifferent observer. Although not as omnivorous as the red-shouldered hawk, it feeds on a variety of food, as small mammals, snakes, frogs, insects, birds, crawfish, centipedes, and even carrion. In regions where rattlesnakes abound it destroys considerable numbers of the reptiles. Although it feeds to a certain extent on poultry and birds, it is nevertheless entitled to general protection on account of the insistent warfare it wages against field mice and other small rodents and insects that are so destructive to young orchards, nursery stock, and farm produce. Out of 530 stomachs examined, 437, or 85 per cent, contained the remains of mammals, pests such as field mice, pine mice, rabbits, several species of ground squirrels, pocket gophers, and cotton rats, and only 62 contained the remains of poultry or game birds.

MARY PICKFORD AT THE APOLLO TONIGHT

Photoplay Queen Seen Yesterday and Again Tonight at the Apollo.

Mary Pickford is again proving that her popularity is not based alone on the efforts of her press agents but upon her wonderful versatility in interpreting every conceivable character. "Poor Little Peppina" at the Apollo proves her equal to the most exacting of heroes and heroines. Her crowded houses yesterday were a further testimonial to her work.

In this picture there are many things new to the customary Pickford environment. Miss Pickford is lovely as the little peasant girl, and there have been few picture incidents more charming than the one where she and her brother play bocce. As a trousseau heroine, she swaggers about entertainingly, though she is best in curls and politeness. The picture is beautifully produced and interestingly developed. Excellent character types and real Italians add a deal of color to the whole. Jack Pickford, as the peasant Peppo, does not need the tag "Pickford" to distinguish him.

The story has to do with a vengeful butler and a kidnapped baby, the episodes which land Mary in an Italian peasant's home and set her on the highway of adventure. As she grows into a charming girlhood, she

Heart and Home PROBLEMS

—By—
MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters may be addressed to
MRS. THOMPSON
in care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am twenty-seven years old and a widow. My husband and I lived together three years before he died and was very happy. He had a sudden attack of acute indigestion and only lived a few hours after he was taken sick. The left me a small life insurance, but that was all. His parents are comfortably fixed and want me to come and live with them. They have a farm and I would be able to do enough work for them so that I would feel that I was paying my way. Although I love my mother-in-law and have great respect for my father-in-law I would much rather stay here in town and work. I was a good stenographer before I married and I think I could pick up the work easily again. It would be very hard for me to leave my home and go to the country, where I know only my husband's people. My old employer told me that if I could wait until June he would give me work and would give me a little time to pick up in my stenographic. What do you think it would be best for me to do?

Since you prefer to work in the city, I think you should do so. The offer of your mother-in-law to live with them in the country will probably be open to you later if you find you do not get along well with your work in town.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) What is a quick bleach for red, feverish complexion? (2) What will take dark circles from around the eyes? (3) What will close the pores of the skin and take off roughness and make the complexion clear and smooth?

THANK YOU. (1) The following is a remedy for inflamed skin: Boric acid, one dram; distilled witch hazel, two ounces; rosewater, two ounces. If this has no effect, it would be well to consult a physician, as the blood or stomach may be in a bad condition, and a local treatment will have little effect.

(2) Some people have dark circles that will not go away. Sleep, exercise and nourishing food help if anything.

(3) A lotion for enlarged pores is made of one dram of boric acid and four ounces of distilled witch hazel. Apply with a piece of old linen or a bit of absorbent cotton.

In order to relieve the skin, scrub the face with a complexion brush once a day and apply a good massage cream.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a girl of twenty and have light hair and blue eyes. What shades in silk are going to be popular? (2) I do not want blue. What other shades would be suitable for me? (3) Are white shoes going to be popular this summer? (4) Some color going to be worn? (5) Which are going to be worn most, broad trimmed hats or turbans? (6) Old rose, all shades of green and blue, burnt orange, gray and plaid. (7) Very. (8) Yes. (9) Broad hats will be worn most, but turbans are still good.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am seventeen years old and have been going with a boy who is untrue to me. I have found out that he lies to me and several times he has broken a date and I learned that he was with another girl. The next time that he asks to come to see me what shall I say?

BROKEN-HEARTED GIRL. The next time that he asks to come to see me, tell him that you will be busy and cannot see him. If I were you I would not go with him any more.

BROKEN-HEARTED GIRL. The next time that he asks to come to see me, tell him that you will be busy and cannot see him. If I were you I would not go with him any more.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am seventeen years old and have been going with a boy who is untrue to me. I have found out that he lies to me and several times he has broken a date and I learned that he was with another girl. The next time that he asks to come to see me what shall I say?

Household Hints

BEFEE JUICE. Uses for meat that has had the juice extracted.

Beef juice is valuable food for invalids and is more quickly converted into blood than other foods. To prepare: Cut round steak into two-inch pieces, slash or chop well, sear in hot spider, then squeeze the juice into a hot cup (a lemon squeezer works very well for the purpose), add a little salt and eat at once.

The meat, which has been squeezed dry, may be prepared in a variety of palatable ways.

Covered with cold water (add a little salt), and slowly stewed, it is good. Dumplings or split biscuit or noodles may be used with it.

Or, fry some small pieces of salt pork, add the pieces of pressed meat, cook a few minutes, then cover with boiling water and stew gently two hours. Make a sauce of tomatoes, a little celery, cloves, onion, bay leaf, cayenne pepper. Stew, strain and add to the gravy.

Use boiled potatoes and carrots with this; also green peppers, if liked. Cut the vegetables in slices and pour the thickened stew over, or they may be served separately.

Or use the pressed out beef with a little salt pork and vegetables to make an Irish stew.

Make patties are very good. Take two cups of ground meat, one-fourth as much bread crumbs soaked in milk, one-half teaspoon baking powder, grating of nutmeg, paprika, tablespoon of dry powdered celery or parsley, oil, catsup. Mix all with a beaten egg, roll in flour and fry in hot fat.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING. Curian net dyed a pretty green makes cool and serviceable summer portiers.

Saturate a soft black cloth with coal oil and hang out in the air a day or two, and you will have a good inexpensive dustier.

A small piece of gauze bandage placed back of a tear in a lace curtain may be used to mend it with. Darn it in place and then draw out the threads, which are not needed.

When washing and rinsing colored materials add teaspoon of epsom salts to each gallon of water, and neither fade nor run. Serge or merino dresses which have been dyed black can be safely washed in this way without any risk of the dye running.

Make Your Head Save Your Feet—If you are taking anything to the cellar, be sure to bring something up. If you go upstairs, try to think of something to bring down. Save as many steps as you can and you won't be nearly so tired.

THE TABLE. Bran Bread—One cup graham or whole wheat flour, one cup white flour, two cups bran, 1½ cups milk (sour is preferable), one-half cup molasses, one-half teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cream of tartar, one-half teaspoon salt. Sift flour, bran and soda, cream of tartar, putting in which does not sift through. Add milk, molasses and a few raisins. Cook slowly in a deep narrow pan. Test with a toothpick after thirty minutes. This cured a very stubborn case of constipation and indigestion.

Stuffed Potatoes—To serve a family of four, select eight medium-sized potatoes, wash well, cut top, filling with deep enough to avoid breaking; scrape out inside, leaving enough case or jacket to hold firm. Now grind half pound beef (or ham if preferred), half onion, salt, pepper, mix well, adding seasonings (salt, pepper and a little butter). Pack potato jackets, fasten tops on with toothpicks, stand top up in pan and bake until all tender. Delicious as well as economical.

Shrimp and Tomato Salad—Select medium-sized tomatoes, peel and slice off tops. Remove seeds and pulp; set on ice to cool. Set shrimps on ice, cold. When cold, cut tomatoes with shrimp, pour over this mayonnaise dressing and serve on lettuce leaves.

Chocolate Lady Finger Dainty—One and one-half dozen lady fingers, four eggs, three tablespoons powdered sugar, three tablespoons vanilla, two eighth-cent bars German chocolate. Place chocolate in double boiler. When dissolved, add water, sugar, vanilla, yolks of eggs. Beat well the egg whites, fold into mixture and set aside. Separate lady fingers. Line square pan with oil paper, place fingers in two rows, pour hot mix over on fingers, mix lady fingers and rest of mixture until all used up. Set in cool place. Serves six. Dell dious with whipped cream. Make in the morning for six o'clock dinner.

Mixed Salad—Cook separately one quart of new potatoes, one quart of beans, one quart peas, six carrots. Let cool. Now dice them but do not mix. Slice one cucumber, one stalk of celery, three bunches of radishes. Cut one dozen olives. Chill. Just before serving mix all together. Add oil and vinegar, salt and pepper. Serve on lettuce with slices of hard boiled eggs. This is not only pleasing to the eye, but is also good. Will serve eight people.

STATE MUSIC TEACHERS CONVENTION IN MILWAUKEE. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Fond du Lac, Wis., May 2.—The annual convention of the Wisconsin Music Teachers' association opened at the Fond du Lac armory today. About fifteen teachers from the state are attending the gathering.

A concert was given this afternoon followed by a reception for the visitors.

The oratorio "Creation" will be presented tonight by J. Hyden assisted by the Fond du Lac choral club Wednesday morning, Anton Bumbalek of the Marquette university conservatory of music, will give a recital.

John C. Freang, a speaker of national reputation in music circles, will address a mass meeting Wednesday night. The annual banquet will be held Thursday night.

The Wisconsin association has taken the lead in the organization of other state associations of music teachers and in the forming of the national organization. Further extension work along this line will be outlined during the four day convention.

Dean Liborius Semmann of Milwaukee is president of the organization and Mrs. G. Hyde, Madison secretary.

GERMAN WOMEN NOT MAKING TEA FROM HEATHER FLOWERS. Paris, May 2.—The largely increased exportation of heather from Denmark to Germany was supposed to have been due to the need of the Germans for a substitute for tea. It was also said that tea was made from the heather blossoms. A German soldier, native of Schleswig, now explains that the heather is placed in front of particularly exposed trenches and set on fire on the approach of gas clouds. The burning heather heats the air which, in expanding, disperses the poisonous vapors, he says.

Ralph threw back his head and laughed aloud. "From what I have found that everything is mutually satisfactory and is likely to be permanent, with the prospect of a good salary, we can be married at once, can't we?"

"What, live in that little town?" asked Ethel. "I have an idea, I would not be very attractive even to you without my setting."

"Your setting? Why, your setting would be your home," Ralph looked anxiously at her. "I had not planned to have your nest a cottage. If there is nothing there to suit I would build a house for you."

"I'd like that," Ethel's face lighted up. "And if we were married soon I could begin having my showers and getting my clothes ready. All the girls will be envious. They are crazy about you." Ethel did not add that the attitude of the girls toward Ralph constituted one of his chief attractions in her eyes.

"I shall go next week," added her lover, after a pause. "So soon? I do not want you to go so soon," pointed the girl. "But I must." The tone was final. She had learned what that tone meant, so said no more.

"Well, I guess the Scott-Frazee Co. is not the only business firm in the world," pouted Ethel, looking archly into the glowing face above her.

"But they offer me the most money. Pshaw, money is a necessity for such a luxury-loving little creature as you."

"But what could we do with money in a slow little town?" purred the girl, leaning her head on his shoulder.

MONROE BOYS AND GIRLS AT "OUTS" OVER DEBATE ON MILITARY ENLISTMENT

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Monroe, Wis., May 2.—"Young men who are afraid of powder will never find any tatum on their shoulders," was the verdict of the high school girls here after a debate on whether a system of military training should be adopted in the Monroe high school in which the negative was voted in favor of the boys voting "no."

The young ladies recently issued an edict that young men who failed to affiliate with the local militia company should be stricken from their list of social acquaintances. The boys in retaliation, "packed the hall" at the debate and voted against military training.

The girls are now trying to get a course in serving tea and knitting established for the boys.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulished coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get mulished coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Despair Gave Way To Great Victory

Fond du Lac Woman Relates Pleasant Experience That Has Bred Her Lot.

No one can read about the recent experience of Mrs. L. Pohl, of 30 S. Boardman street, Fond du Lac, without feeling almost as happy over the outcome as the lady herself. Mrs. Pohl is employed by the Gurney Refrigerator Co., and has a host of friends in the city. This is the statement she made recently: "I have just recovered from a severe case of stomach trouble after much suffering. I can't begin to describe all that I went through with during all that time. I will say that it was only recently that I found anything that would help me. "I took many medicines without being helped. Sometimes I would be relieved for a little while but it was only temporary. Whenever I ate I would have pains in the pit of my stomach. I had difficulty in retaining food on my stomach. Anything sweet would not stay on my stomach more than half an hour at most. This upper condition of my stomach caused me to have the most severe blinding sick headaches. "A few weeks ago I began to use TANLAC, the new medicine. I wish to say that it has helped me more than anything I have ever tried. I can now eat what I want without suffering. I have no trouble retaining food on my stomach. My appetite is better than I have known for several years. I have no more pains in my stomach nor do I have any more of those blinding headaches. TANLAC will do all that is claimed for it and I can heartily recommend it to all."

TANLAC may be obtained here at Smith's Drug Store. A TANLAC representative is on hand daily at this store. Stop in and hear all about the famous medicine. It may be what you need.

The tears had burned out of the steadiest eyes which were resting, with the shining soul looking out through them, upon the crimsoning snow peaks of the distant Timmoyona. "How little you know the real love," she said slowly. "It neither weighs nor measures, nor needs to; it writes its own law in the heart, and that law can make no compromise with evil. It has but one requirement—the best good of the beloved. If the way to that end lies through sacrifice—if it asks for the life itself—so let it be. If you know this, Victor, you would know that I would gladly lose all—the mine, my father's chance of his reward for the years of toil, even my brother's better chance for reformation—and count myself happy in having found a love that was too great to do evil that good might come."

He got up stiffly and helped her to her feet and together they stood looking down upon the city of the plain, lying now under the curved, sunset shadow cast by the mighty, impending sweep of the great dam.

"I don't know," he said after a time. "Once, as I told you a few weeks ago, the best there was in me would have leaped up to climb the heights with you. But I've gone far since the going began. I am not sure that I could find my way back if I should try. Let's go down. I mustn't keep you out on the mountain after dark. I haven't happened to meet her, but I suppose there is a Mrs. Grundy, even in Gomorrah."

She acquiesced in silence and they made the descent of the steep trail and walked across in the growing dusk from the foot of Chigirgo to the stuccoed villa in the suburb, misers of speech, since there were no deeper depths to which the spoken word could plunge. But at the villa steps Brouillard took the girl in his arms and kissed her.

"Put me out of your mind and heart if you can," he said tenderly, repeating the words which he had once sent across the distances to her in another moment of despair, and before she could answer he was gone.

Monsieur Poudrecaux Bongras, rotund, smiling and roached and waxed to a broad burlesque of second-empire serenity, looked in vain among his dinner guests that evening for the chief of the reclamation service, and

"How Is the Line Tonight, Pretty Clear?"

Brouillard's absence held a small disappointment for the Frenchman. Rumor, the rumor which was never quiet and which could never be traced conclusively to its source, was again busy with exciting hints of a new era of prosperity about to dawn, and Bongras had hoped to drop his own little plummet of inquiry into the reclamation service chief.

The chance did not materialize. The lights in a certain upper office in the Niquola building were still turned on long after M. Poudrecaux had given up the hope of the deep-sea sounding for that night. Some time after the lobby crowd had melted, and before the lower avenue had begun to order small-hour suppers of Bongras, the two high windows in the Niquola building went dark and a few minutes later the man who had spent half the night tramping the floor or sitting with his head in his hands at the desk in the upper room came out of the street archway and walked briskly to the telegraph office across the plaza.

"How is the line tonight, Sanford—pretty clear?" he asked of the night manager, killing time while the sleepy night receiving clerk was making his third attempt to count the words in the closely-written, two-page government cipher.

"Nothing doing; a little A. P. stuff drizzling in now and then," said the manager, adding, "But that's like the poor—always with us."

"All right; there is no particular rush about this matter of mine, just so it is sure to be in the secretary's hands at the opening of business in the morning. But be careful that it goes straight—you'd better have it checked back before it is put on the through wire from Denver."

"Sure, Mr. Brouillard. What you say in this little old shack goes as it lays. We'll look out and not bull your message. Good night."

CHAPTER XXI An Evening Call

Notwithstanding the preliminary rumors which Bongras and many others had sought so anxiously to verify, the Mirapolitan awakening to a realization that once more the tide had turned to bring new billows of prosperity tumbling into the valley of the Niquola came with a sudden and triumphant shock.

The first of the quickening waves fell upon the government reservation. Between sunrise and nightfall, on a day when the cloud of depression had grown black with panic threatenings, the apathy which had lately characterized the work on the great dam disappeared as if by magic. The city found its billboards posted with loud calls for labor; the idle mixers were put in commission; the quarries and crushers began to thunder again; and the stagings once more shook and trembled under the feet of a busy army of pudglos.

While the revival was as yet only in the embryonic period, fresh labor began to come in gangs and in carloads and presently by special trains. Swarming colonies of Greeks, Italians and Bulgarians were dumped upon the city through the gate of the railroad station, and once more Chigirgo avenue at right became a cheerful midway answering to the speech of all nations.

Change, revivification, reanimation instantly became the new order of the day; and again Mirapolitan flung itself joyously into the fray, reaping where it had not sown and sowing only where the quickest crop could be gathered. For now the dullest of the reapers saw that the government work was really the Mirapolitan breath of life. Neither the quickening of the city's industries nor the restarting of the gold dredges in the Quadregal canals, the reopening of the Real Estate exchange nor the Buckskin company's sudden resumption of the profitless prospecting on Jack's mountain served to obscure the principal fact—that without the money the reclamation service was disturbing the new prosperity structure would collapse like a house of cards.

This new and never-mentioned conviction wrought an eager change in men and in methods. Credit vanished and spot cash was tacitly acknowledged to be the only way to do business in a live community. Fortunes changed hands swiftly, as before, but now there was little bargaining and, with hot haste for the foreword, little time for it. To the western motto of "Go to it and get the money" was added: "And don't come back without it." It was said with a laugh, but behind the laugh there was a menace.

Among the individual transformations wrought by the new conditions, the young chief of the reclamation service afforded the most striking example. From the morning when he had summarily canceled the lease for the offices in the Niquola building and had returned his headquarters to the old log buildings on the government reservation and thence had issued his first series of orders for the resumption of full-force work on the dam and canals, those who had not known him best discovered that they had not known him at all. Even to Grislow and the men of his staff he was curt, crisply mandatory, almost brutal. For one and all there was rarely anything beyond the shodlike sentence: "Drive it, men; drive it; that's what you're here for—drive it!"

The time he took to eat his hurried meals at Bongras' could be measured in minutes, and what hours he gave to sleep no man knew, since he was the last to leave the headquarters at night and the first on the work in the morning. Twice, after the renewed activities on the great wall had become a well-ordered race against time, and the concrete was pouring into the high forms in steady streams from the ranked batteries of mixers, Mr. Cortwright had sent for Brouillard, and on each occasion the messenger had gone back with the brief word: "Too busy during working hours." And when a third messenger came to inquire what Mr. Brouillard's working hours were, the equally blunt answer returned was: "All the time."

In the face of such discouragements Mr. Cortwright was constrained to pocket his dignity as mayor, as the potentate of the exchanges, and as the unquestionable master of the surly young industry captain who refused to come when he was called, and to go in person. Choosing the evening hour when he had been assured that he was likely to find Brouillard alone and at work, he crossed the boundaries of the sacred reservation and made his way to the door of the log-built mapping room.

"I came around to see what is eating you these days," was the pudgy tyrant's greeting for the young man sitting under the shaded desk lamp. "Why don't you drop in once in a while and give me the run of things?" "I gave your clerk the reason," said Brouillard laconically. "I'm too busy."

"The devil you are!" snapped the great man, finding the only archaism in the room and dropping heavily into it. "Since when?"

"Since the first time you sent for me—and before."

Mr. Cortwright recovered his working geniality only with a palpable effort.

"See here, Brouillard, you know you never make any money by being short with me. Let's drop it and get down to business. What I wanted to say is that you are overdoing it; you are putting on too much steam. You've brought the boom, all right, but at the pace you're setting it won't last long enough. Are you catching on?" "I'm listening," was the noncommittal reply.

"Then I'll Take a Hand!" Snarled the Tyrant, at Bay.

"Well, enough's enough, and too much of a good thing scalds the hog before you're ready to dress it and cut it up. It's all right for you to run men in here by the railroad and scatter 'em out over your scaffolding—the more the merrier, and it's good for the town—but you needn't sweat the last shovelful of hurry out of them the way you're doing. It won't do to get your job finished too soon."

"Before congress convenes, you mean?" suggested Brouillard.

"That's just what I mean. String it out. Make it last."

Brouillard sat back in his pivot chair and began to play with the paper-knife.

"And if I don't choose to 'string it out'—if I even confess that I am straining every nerve to do this thing that you don't want me to do—what then, Mr. Cortwright?"

The quiet retort jolted the stocky man in the armchair as if it had been a blow. But he recovered quickly.

"I've been looking for that," he said with a nervous twinkling of the little gray eyes. "You've no business being out of business, Brouillard. If you'd quit puddling sand and cement and little rocks together and strike your gait right in ten years you'd be the richest man this side of the mountains. I'll be open-handed with you. This time you've got us where we can't wiggle. We've got to have more time. How much is it going to cost us?"

Brouillard shook his head slowly. "Odd as it may seem to you, I'm out of your market this time, Mr. Cortwright—quite out of it."

"Oh, no, you're not. You've got property to sell—a good bit of it. We can turn it for you at a figure that will—"

"No; you are mistaken," was the quick reply. "I have no property in Mirapolitan. I am merely a squatter on government land, like everyone else in the Niquola valley."

"For heaven's sake!" the promoter burst out. "What's got into you? Don't you go around trying to stand that corpse on its feet; it's a dead one, I tell you! The Coronida titles are all right!"

"There are no Coronida titles. You have known it all along, and I know it—now. I have it straight from the bureau of land statistics, in a letter from a man who knows. The nearest bound of the old Spanish grant is Latigo, ten miles south of Chigirgo. The department knows this and is prepared to prove it. And in the very beginning you and your associates were warned that you could not acquire homestead or other rights in the Niquola."

"Let it go!" snapped the gray-eyed king of the pack. "We've got to get out alive and we're going to get out alive. What's your price?"

"I have answered that question once, but I'll make it a little plainer if you wish. It is beyond your reach; if you should turn your money-collecting suit into cash you couldn't pay it this time Mr. Cortwright."

"That's guff—box-talk—play-acting! You want something—is that damned Massingale business again? I don't own the railroad, but if you think I do, I'll sign anything you want to write to the traffic people. Let Massingale sell his ore and get the money for it. He'll go gamble it as he did yours."

Dinner Stories

A new postoffice was established at a small village far out west and the office of postmaster was bestowed on a native of the soil. After a while, complaints were made that no mail was sent out from the new office. So an inspector was sent to inquire into the matter. He asked the postmaster why no mail had been sent out.

The postmaster pointed to a big and nearly empty mail bag hanging up in a corner and said:

"Why, I ain't sent it out because

GOVERNMENT PLANS SAFETY FIRST CAR

Will Illustrate "Preparedness" by Novel Exhibits Now Being Prepared.

With the present interest that is being taken by the people in national preparedness, the exhibits of the two military branches of the federal government on the "Safety First" special, which started from Washington Monday, May 1, on a tour of the country, promises to attract much popular attention. Both the navy department and the war department will have cars devoted exclusively to displays of apparatus and models of apparatus used by these departments. These will give the citizens of the country a glimpse of the manner in which Uncle Sam is prepared to deal with any emergency that may arise. The navy department will show models of the great guns that are on the battleships and will have men from the navy to explain their workings. There will be a modern machine gun, similar to those now being used in the European war, and also rapid fire Hotchkiss gun, of a type formerly used by the navy. A six-pound gun of the latest design used on ships will also be exhibited. These displays of the dreadnaught Vermont and the commerce raider Columbia will also be shown. The latter is an example of an obsolescent type of the scout cruisers now being placed in the navy.

Perhaps the greatest interest in the navy exhibit will be centered in a torpedo, the type of instrument that has caused so much death and destruction in the waters of the world. The navy department costs from $4,000 to $5,000 and that many of them are used in warfare. The navy has obtained from one of its submarines a torpedo, which will be carried with the car and will be in working order at all stopping places. Messages will be received and sent by the station and the station under actual working conditions. The war department is preparing an equally interesting exhibit for its car, but has not yet gone far enough with its plans to permit a description of its apparatus to be carried.

The weather bureau, department of agriculture, is now installing on its car a mammoth weather map, which each day will show the prevailing weather conditions throughout the country, including the temperature, rainfall and storm conditions. The map will be corrected every day and the Washington office every day and the map will be corrected accordingly. The powerful Arlington wireless apparatus at Washington twice daily sends out the weather forecast with special storm warnings, and the navy department wireless catch these reports to be displayed on the traveling map. It is expected that the weather bureau that the storm and flood warnings given out at various times have saved to the citizens of the country millions of dollars of property and thousands of lives.

The great lesson of sanitation as a preventive of disease will be illustrated in many ways by the public health service. This service is the duty of the public health service, considered one of the most prolific carriers of dread disease, and will show the visitors how houses and stables can be built so as to exclude the plague rodents. It is said that the public health service is responsible for saving the country from an epidemic of yellow fever by reason of its heroic work in driving the rat out of New Orleans.

ARLIE MUCKS STILL HURLING WEIGHTS FAR

Gigantic University Athlete Continues to Hurl Discus and Shots Long Distances.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Madison, May 2.—What world's records Arlie Mucks will hang up in the discus throw in the next few years, at the coming Olympic games is a matter of interest to all concerned. This giant, weighing now close to 270 pounds, has again beat his own record, this time by a good margin, at the Pennsylvania meet held at Philadelphia last week. The distance now held by him is 145 feet, eleven and one-half inches. James Duncan established a record in 1912 at Long Island, Mucks gaining prominence later with a better mark. He not only beat the world's mark Saturday, but he took first in the shot put, throwing it for a distance of 43 feet, one and a half inches. This put was by four feet farther than his nearest competitor. Cornell staged the unexpected by capturing the four-mile relay over the fast Badger runners. Despite this fact, Wisconsin won the entire meet in comparison to the number of entries, capturing 29 points. The one mile relay was won by Harvard in 2:18. Princeton, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin following up in order. Nine Badgers were in the meeting, taking four first places, a second, two thirds, and a fourth.

JANESVILLE BOY SHOWS SPEED ON INDIAN TRACK; GETS PLACE IN CLASS MEET

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Madison, May 2.—Russell G. Smiley of Janesville, freshman in the course in commerce at the University of Wisconsin, won second place in the 100 yard run held Saturday in connection with the interclass track meet at Camp Randall. Hardy of Chicago won first and O'Donnell of Racine was third. The time for the event was two minutes and ten seconds. Smiley has been working with the commerce and first year track team all year. His speed in this half-mile event was remarkable. The freshman won the meet with a total of 96 points. The sophomores were second with 18 points and the seniors last with thirteen. No records were broken, the time in every event being below the standard.

Moses N. Frank, who has been a loyal supporter of baseball in Baltimore for many years has been elected president of the Baltimore International league club, Jack Dunn having decided that he will have his hands full looking after the playing end.

NATIONALS IN LEAD IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Eddie Ghanratty Probably Dreaming of the World Series Money.—Both Chicago Teams Idle.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Washington, D. C., May 2.—Washington went into the lead in the American league pennant race on Monday by defeating Boston, 5 to 3, while Detroit and New York were losing to Cleveland and Philadelphia respectively. Ruth was unsteady and passed nine men. Boston hit Harper hard, but failed to make the hits count except in one inning. In the eighth, with the score 3 to 2 against Washington, and one out, Ruth passed Rondeau, Williams and Morgan. Leonard then went to the mound and Henry greeted him with a two-base hit, which cleared the bases.

CY YOUNG'S RECORD MAY ENDURE FOR ALL TIME

Cy Young's pitching record may endure for all time. Only one pitcher in the game today—Christy Mathewson—had a chance to eclipse it. But the sun seems to be setting on Matty's major league pitching life—and, wonderful as is his work, it cannot compare with that of the old war horse. Young survived the terrific pace of twenty-two campaigns. He quit the game along in 1910 or 1911, and retired to his farm after taking part in $19 combats. Of these he won 508, giving him a grand pitching average around .620 for the entire period. At the end of the 1915 season Mathewson's record showed that over a stretch of sixteen years under the big canvas he had worked in 614 games, 205 less than Young figured in. To equal Young's record in games pitched, Mathewson must remain in the majors at least six years longer—a seeming impossibility. Mathewson has won 368 and lost 155 of his games. The others did not figure in his win or lost column. Matty's grand average to date is .665. Even should he by some miracle remain in the major league spotlight until he has pitched more games than Young, it is beyond the range of probability that he can win 90 per cent of the remaining games. And that is just about what the weakening arm must accomplish to beat the record of Young. When one compares Young's record with that of Mathewson and the other great pitchers of today, there comes the full knowledge of what an amazing twirler was Old Cy—a hurler whose like may never again illumine and glorify—the baseball world.

WINS MARATHON

Arthur Roth.

Arthur Roth of Dorchester, Mass., won the Boston A. A. marathon, making the distance from Ashland, Mass., to the Boston A. A. clubhouse, in two hours, 27 minutes and 16 2-5 seconds. The spectacular finish was featured by a desperate spurt by Villa Kyronen of New York, who made an unsuccessful effort to overtake the leader.

BADGERS IN CELLAR BERTH OF BIG NINE BASEBALL LINE-UP

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Madison, May 2.—Wisconsin is tied for the last position in the conference baseball race as the result of their second defeat at the hands of the Illinois team at Urbana Saturday. The Badgers won 4 to 1, Pederson and McDonnell being the only Wisconsin men to secure hits. The Illinois team struck out eight men and Moon fanned 7. Moon being unable to hold the slugging Illinois men down to less than eight hits.

MORRIS MILLER

With the roster showing Hans Wagner of Carnegie Jimmy Smith of Greenfield, Al Marnaux of Dormont, Knabe of Schultze of Baltimore and Otto Knabe of Carrick, the Pirate club is taking on a strong local tone through the efforts of Pittsburgh and Greater Pittsburgh talent. The fight among the home boys for an infield position is an unusual feature. When Smith was injured, Schultze went into the lineup in spite of an injury, and now Knabe is signed to take the place of Schultze with both Smith and Schultze likely to give him a battle for the job later on.

Complaints were made by Pittsburgh over the elevation of the pitcher's mound at the Cardinal park in Saint Louis and President Teuer will order an investigation. All National League diamonds were supposed to be surveyed before the season opened, but Manager Higgins appears to have slipped something over. Perhaps it was to give the proper fall for water running off the new tarpaulin that Procy Britton bought to cover his diamond. Britton after losing enough to pay for a dozen tarpaulins through games postponed by wet grounds, decided to make an investment.

It seems that Portland was willing enough to take Pitcher Al Collamore, and that it was the pitcher himself who killed the deal. He objected to making the trip to the coast, so Cleveland let Toledo have him. When the Collamore deal fell through Manager McCredie decided to retain Pitcher Jimmy Clark. The Indian, Lou Smith, was let go.

The new ball park at Hopewell in the Virginia League is built on the site of an old battlefield. Along the outfield fence runs a line of breastworks built by General Grant when his army faced that of General Lee. The town population has shown a bad habit of climbing on these old fortifications and looking over the fence, much to the detriment of the pay gate, so it is proposed to level the relic of war days.

The Daring baseball family will be assembled at Bloomington in the Three-league this year. Howard will manage the team and his brothers, Rolla and Cliff will be on the infield. Cliff was taken on after Topeka could not see him, while Rolla was secured after he was declared a free agent from Peoria that club having overlooked the little matter of sending him a contract.

Pitcher Jack Warhop, formerly with the New York Yankees, who trained with the St. Louis Cardinals this spring but failed to show comeback qualities, has signed with the Salt Lake club. The statement from Salt Lake that Warhop "refused to sign" with the Cardinals however, can be taken with a grain of salt.

Last winter when Oakland bought a batch of players from Milwaukee, the Coast league fans were promised great things. Now three of them are missing pitcher Tom Dougherty would not report, Buzz failed as an infielder, and Newt Randall, the veteran outfielder, has been released. Jap Barbau, however, was hanging on at last accounts and delivering the goods.

Johnny Priest, who has been holding out on the Rochester club over a difference in salary, has been sold to Omaha in the Western league. Priest held out so long that Tommy Leach had no place for him when he did report.

Newbie Kelly, brother of George of the New York Giants, who has been working out with the Los Angeles team, has been shifted to Vancouver for development. Like Brother George he is long and lean, but instead of first basing or playing the outfield he wants to be a pitcher.

President McCaffery of the Toronto club has notified Manager Joe Birmingham, so the story goes, that he doesn't want to report to him. Birmingham, however, has said that the ex-Fed must be dumped, though Birmingham is privileged to make a deal for him if the pitcher desires it.

DELANAV

Delavan, May 1.—P. J. Fleming arrived here from Lake Worth, Florida, last Thursday. Howard Brabazon went Saturday to Beloit to remain with his mother. Miss Julia Vasey returned to Milwaukee last Saturday. John Fleming spent the week-end here; going on to Chicago this morning.

LUMBERMEN'S COMMITTEE CALLS ON THE GOOD JUDGE

FINE JUDGE, WE CAME OUT AS A COMMITTEE TO TELL YOU HOW WE ALL ENJOY W-B CUT TOBACCO WITH A SALTY TASTE.

MEN who appreciate Quality are endorsing W-B CUT Chewing—the long shred Real Tobacco Chew—as the chew that really satisfies.

W-B CUT Chewing is rich tobacco, always the same good quality and a small chew takes the place of the inconvenient, big wad of the ordinary kind. Remember, too, there's less spitting and grinding with W-B CUT Chewing.

Give it a quality test.

"Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste."

NEW RURAL ROUTE MAP—Rock
County. Prepared from information obtained from the Janesville post-office. A new rural route map of Rock County showing all the rural routes in the county as well as those coming into Rock County from bordering counties, giving the numbers of each route and indicating the starting point and the complete course which each take, is on sale at the Gazette. It is a valuable assistant in locating any rural route and tracing its course. It will help you to locate by route any particular part of the county and assist in finding the correct post-office address. The new rural route map is a valuable addition to Rock County and should be in every home, school, etc. Size 22x32, printed on strong

CITY GAS IN THE COUNTRY
BLAUGAS HOUSE INSTALLA-TION—The standard Blaugas equipment for the home consists of a gas steel cabinet containing two bottles of Blaugas, a pressure gauge and regulating valve.
The cabinet is placed outside the house—bottles changed without disturbance. An expanding chamber, in which the Blaugas expands from a liquid to a gas, is placed beneath the cabinet. One bottle is connected and emptied into the expanding chamber.
The expanding gas is drawn through the regulating valve, which reduces the pressure, and then into the house pipes. The second bottle is a reserve supply and is not connected.
The empty bottle is exchanged for a full one by us. The apparatus is strongly made and thoroughly tested before being installed. The Blaugas apparatus is absolutely waterproof, requires no attention beyond the changing of the bottles, no generating, no dirt, no heating, no water connections, no lifting of weights. Needs no protection from the weather. Nothing to rust out or clog up. The simplest isolated system yet devised—just connect and use.
A postal or phone call will bring full information.

LUDLOW'S, 203 West Milwaukee St., Will Be Closed Tuesday and Wednesday, May 2nd and 3rd, to Prepare Stock For a 15 Days' Closing Out Sale

Hundreds of People Are Expected.
Are You Coming?

Sale Starts Thursday,
May 4th, at 9 A.M.

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS

LUDLOW'S ENTIRE STOCK OF FANCY DRY GOODS, LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S UNDERWEAR, HOSIERY AND DAINTY SMALLWARES OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS

203 WEST MILWAUKEE STREET

THROWN ON THE MARKET FOR A

15 Days' Closing Out Sale Beginning Thursday, May 4, 9 A.M.

The Unique Feature of This Sale

IS THAT IT COMES RIGHT AT THE BEGINNING OF THE SEASON WHEN THE MERCHANDISE WE OFFER ARE IN DEMAND, WHEN THESE THINGS ARE WORTH A HUNDRED CENTS ON THE DOLLAR IN EVERY STORE NOW, WHEN ALL MERCHANTS INSIST ON A LEGITIMATE PROFIT.

WANTED!

TEN EXPERIENCED SALESLADIES. APPLY BETWEEN 8 AND 9 A.M.

HAVING decided to retire from the mercantile business, Miss Ludlow, 203 West Milwaukee St., will inaugurate this Closing Out Sale. The entire stock must be disposed of in fifteen days, as a long drawn out sale is not only undesirable, but very expensive. The fact that our object can be accomplished only by making price concessions which are entirely out of the ordinary is well known to us, but we are determined to succeed and shall permit neither quality nor value to stand in our way to make these 15 days the greatest event of its kind ever attempted by this or any other firm in this part of Wisconsin.

Miss Ludlow has been identified with the business interests of Janesville for so many years, and her methods, as well as the superior character of her wares, are so well known that every one who favors us with a call during our Closing Out of Business Sale may feel absolutely sure of a square deal, as our reputation for clean methods is too precious to be jeopardized in this, our farewell sale.

It Will Pay You To Come 50 Miles

TO THIS SALE, FOR NOTHING APPROACHING OUR PRICE CUTTING HAS EVER BEEN DONE ON SEASONABLE, CLEAN MERCHANDISE IN JANESVILLE BEFORE AND PROBABLY NEVER WILL BE AGAIN.

Think Of It

WHEN ALL MERCHANTS ARE GETTING FULL PRICES FOR THEIR GOODS, AND WAR-PRICES AT THAT, AN OPPORTUNITY COMES TO BUY CLEAN, NEW, DESIRABLE MERCHANDISE FOR LESS THAN EVER.

A FEW QUOTATIONS MUST SUFFICE AS AN INDEX TO OUR PRICINGS

There Are Hundreds of Other Rich, Rare Bargains, As Every Article in the Store is Scaled Down in the Same Ratio.
